The election comes off in Connecticut on Monday next, and the Radicals are using the most foul and villainous means to disfranchise the foreign Democrats. Recently, they ruled out a French-born citizen who could not read English, though a good French scholar, because he had not a part of our Constitution printed in French. In Words of Soberness, Truth an Derby they ruled out six foreign-born ritizens who were on the registry "to be made," on the ground that their first papers did not mature till the 15th of March-the first registry closing on the 18th. This was in violation of the law providing that persons whose qualifications mature after the first registry may be registered "to be made," and admitted when their qualifications mature.
